

My daughter and son in law have both SIRI and XMSR installed in their Cab-over Volvo and they travel cross-country employed by Fed-Ex Ground delivering freight in 48 States. They depend on the weather and traffic information provided by satellite radio in making decisions as to the safest routes to follow in and out of metropolitan area's. They have told me they would be lost if this information would be denied them. I agree-My 20 years as a professional driver for Ryder Systems back in the 70's and 80's would have been less stressful had I been informed better if Sat.Radio were available.
